ANNA'S FIRST PROGRESS REPORT

November 1997 through June 1998

Subjects Covered:

November

- Stop NAET
- Vega test
- Teeth extractions
- Cavitation surgery
- Osteomyelitis
- Necrosis
- Laser treatment
- Sanums
- Neural therapy
- Pterygoid release

December

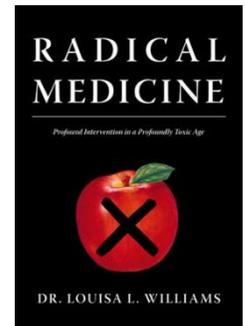

- Neural Kinesiology
- Solvent toxicity

January

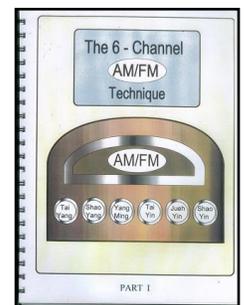

- Heavy metal toxicity
- Neural therapy
- Cavitation surgery
- Laser treatments
- Pterygoid release
- Sanums

March

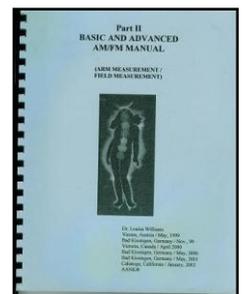

- Dental appliance
- Neural therapy
- Cavitation surgery
- Root canal removal
- Laser treatment

Reviewing my progress has reminded me of how severely ill I have been and how much progress I have made.

I had been evaluated in some of the best medical institutions and by some of the best medical professionals in this country. The diagnosis of my teeth being the root of the problem had not been made.

The diagnosis and the priority of what needed to be undertaken were identified by neural kinesiology. I truly believe this has saved my life.

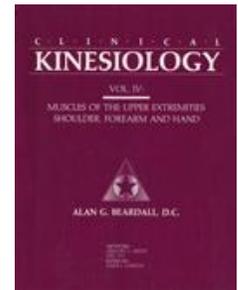

Since beginning diagnosis and treatment with Dr. McCombs, I have made significant progress. During this time, I had 32 visits to her office, and 21 to Dr. Riniker. I also visited my acupuncturist, three times weekly and Dr. Will Harden, my chiropractor, approximately 12 times. Nightly before bed, my husband would give me traction to my neck.

I had four cavitation surgeries and removal of all three teeth with root canals.

November 1997

My initial priority was to stop the NAET treatments until dental infections were dealt with. This is why the allergy treatments would help for a while, but not hold permanently. Foods treated with NAET initially would be in the 95-100% range (100% being allergy free) but over time would diminish into the 60-70% range. Still an improvement over the 40-60% range as indicated by the Vega Test.

The next priority was dental: extraction of teeth numbers 19, 21, and cavitation surgery for 19, 20, and 21. X-ray confirmed infection of the bone around teeth. And osteomyelitis of the jaw bone was confirmed by a biopsy report. It also confirmed that the chronic inflammation surrounding the necrotic area was secondary to an allergic reaction to gutta percha (the latex cross reactive material used in many, if not most, root canals. (My last anaphylaxis reaction occurred shortly after my last root canal.) My post surgery pain and discomfort was relatively minor in comparison to other procedures I had had, including fillings. This I attribute to not only the use of Sanums (in contrast to antibiotics), but also to the pterygoid releases applied and laser therapy.

One week after surgery I experienced increased nasal drainage and swollen cervical lymph glands. It required neural therapy in the form of injections to orthodontic scars in the left side of my throat. Thereafter my drainage improved.

December 1997

During the second month of treatment, the use of neural kinesiology diagnosed the next priority: solvent toxicity.

January 1998

The third month: heavy metal toxicity. In this latter instance I was found to be sensitive to mercury, gold, copper, aluminum, nickel, silver and cadmium.

I again required neural therapy to orthodontic surgery scars in the left side of my mouth. I also had mercury amalgam removed from some of my teeth (replaced with Diamond Crown), cavitation surgery around teeth numbers 14, 15, & 16. Post surgery I received laser treatments, pterygoid releases, sanum remedies for sinus irrigation and acupuncture to address drainage, swelling and pain.

March 1998

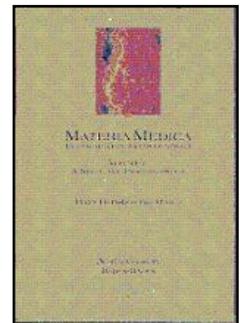

I began sweating (for the first time in memory) early in the fourth month (March). I was fitted for a dental appliance for use while I slept to keep my lower jaw from slipping back. It addressed the issue of drainage. I continued to have pain in my surgical site and acquired an amalgam rash (red and lacy over most of my body) for which I took Epson Salt baths.

In the latter part of the fourth month, I had an allergic reaction to acrylic and vinyl temporary teeth and the appliance made of many of the same materials for which I had been earlier fitted. I visited the emergency room then traveled to Dr. Riniker's office where the temporaries were removed and replaced with a more biocompatible material Diamond Crown.

My priority was solvent detoxification, then neural therapy for the left and right scars in my throat. I next had another cavitation surgery/root canal removal, this time around tooth number 7, the usual post-surgery laser treatments, and neural therapy again.

April 1998

The fifth month, April 1998, saw continued allergic reaction to the original acrylic temporaries. Aphthous ulcers, a sign of mercury toxicity, became prevalent in my mouth and throat. I received neural therapy in my left cervical ganglia and continued post surgery laser treatments. Unable to tolerate either Crystal Energy or Microhydrin, (I discovered during month 19, June 1999, they were contaminated with latex in their manufacture) I discontinued trying to use them.

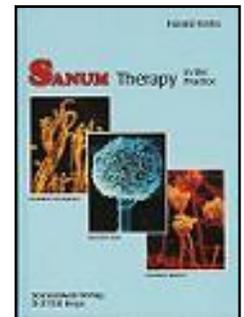

Symptoms during this time included recurring chills, fatigue, lip swelling, throat tightness, wheezing and intense tooth sensitivity. I received Sanums, NAET for various supplements (unsuccessfully), and developed a body rash. During the latter part of this fifth month, I again received neural therapy for my left cervical ganglia and laser treatments for the area around teeth numbers 13-15.

I experienced amalgam detoxification and its attendant symptoms including stabbing pains, lacy rash all over my body, respiratory problems, hot flashes, liver and bilateral kidney pain and heat, and facial, eyelids and lip swelling. I also found that many of these symptoms were exacerbated with exercise. I took Benadryl and sublingual allergy pills to control the symptoms.

In May, I had Sanums to address infections including salmonella and pseudomonas. My symptoms during this time encompassed jaundiced (yellow) skin, stabbing pains, headaches, occasional chills, and kidney and liver pain. I had cavitation surgery around teeth numbers 1 and 2, was treated with Sanums and the usual laser treatments and pterygoid releases. I also received NAET treatments for the basic ten items (eggs, calcium, Vitamin C, Vitamin B complex, sugar, iron, vitamin A, minerals, salts, and grains), which I cleared, i.e. I was no longer allergic.

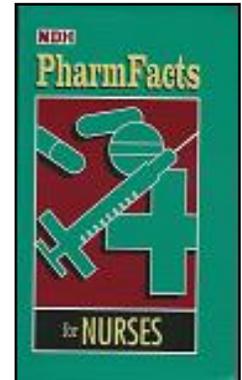

June 1998

The 7th month (June, 1998) began with neural therapy to the upper thoracic ganglia to deal with slow sinus and lymph drainage I was experiencing. During this time I had the lacy, red body rash (amalgam rash), lip swelling, body heat, difficulty sleeping, throat tightness, stiff joints, chills, chest wall discomfort, fatigue, ring around my lips, and headaches. Toward the middle of the month itching eyes and scalp, bloody drainage from my sinuses joined these symptoms. Most notably my sense of smell returned after a 20-30 year absence

The lipoma on my back (which I had had for several years) had grown from the size approximating a quarter to about the size of a silver dollar.

Also in the middle of this month, I started with another health care provider. Certain aspects of my testing with Dr. McCombs were not as accurate as they needed to be. So upon her recommendation, I started with Carolyn, an illumination counselor and medical intuitive (one who can ``bioelectrically diagnose physical and emotional ailments and prescribe alternative remedies to either alleviate or remove the symptoms").

While it would be several months before we would actually meet in person, she provided invaluable assistance to Dr. McCombs and me in my treatment plan. We spoke by telephone for up to one and one-half hours each week. The subjects included my specific symptoms and how to treat them, and introduced me to a world I had barely imagined. Her input marked another turning point in my return to health.

I again had neural therapy to my thoracic ganglia to help sinus and lymph drainage. Two days later I experienced stabbing pains in various parts of my body. I casually walked eight blocks for a little exercise. After which I developed a severe body rash, almost welt-like. This symptom was alleviated with Benadryl and sublingual allergy tablets.

Symptoms and activities during this time included:

- Weight gain 4-6 pounds in a day and lose it during the night
- Lacy, itchy rash all over body
- Sinus drainage
- Tightness in chest
- Dizziness
- Sinus stuffiness
- Perspiring for first time in at least 15 years
- Liver and bilateral kidney pain and heat
- Swollen cervical lymph nodes
- Chills
- Tightness in throat
- Stabbing eye pain
- Lip swelling, red ring around mouth
- Wheezing
- Salt water and baking soda Irrigation of sinuses
- Hot flashes
- Detox baths (Epson Salt)
- Swollen eye lids
